"The Parent-Infant Conference" is being held in London on Wednesday 29th January 2020. It will feature high-profile international and national leading speakers and experts in the field of infant mental health and offer peer-to-peer networking opportunities.

Delegates will include psychotherapists, psychologists, parent-infant therapists, health visitors, GPs, midwives, social workers, children's services staff, commissioners, academics, policy makers, and others from across a broad range of work with children and infants.

We are now welcoming applications for exhibition stands and advertising opportunities for this event and have pleasure in detailing further information below.
